Luminous Dials Popular. The radium watch industry, which has grown in a few years to such large proportions, began with the production of one watch in 1903 by the scientist Dr. George F. Kunz. During 1908-10 a few hundred such watches were imported and sold under patents owned by a large American radium company. From 1910 until the present time the industry has grown steadily. In 1913 about 3.500 radium watches and clocks were sold there was more than a five fold increase in this number. From these small beginnings the use of radioluminous compound has grown into an | industry with an output which in 1919 approximated 2.200,000 American highgrade and cheap watches and clocks

M. C. A. journeyed from Paris during the war, and his account of the adventure in the pages of Travel introduces the little republic to the readers of that periodical. Charlemagne, one learns, gave the Andorrans their liberty something over 1,100 years ago, and there they have remained ever since, too small and at the same time too inaccessible, presumably, to have their liberty taken away from them. The bridge still stands, arching a mountain stream, on which the ancient Andorrans are believed to have signed their treaty with Charlemagne in $10. A "picturebook country," says the seeker for matches, and enumerates "black mountains with real caverns, ruined towers and bridges, peasants in scarlet and green and tam-o'-shanter caps, driving pack mules and herds of sheep along the mountain roads." A contented little republic, apparently where all that the people ask of the outside world is that it buy their matches and other native products, and otherwise leave them alone.

That Tent Dope

The plan of adopting army tents to relieve the home shortage crisis in Cleveland is termed as "bunk" by people who have really kept in close touch with the situation.

It does really seem that the whole tent business is but conversation, started by surface skimming newspapers that kid themselves into believing they are the saviors of the people.

Ask the man who is studying the home-shortage situation. "are tents practical solutions?" and he will quickly reply, "No." The man who can take his family out and live in a tent and at the same time do efficient work in the shop or the office, is the exception. Such tent dwelling will disorganize a man completely. Ask anyone who has tried it.

Again, it is the man with a family who suffers first from a house shortage. Imagine a man with three or more children dwelling in a tent. His wife would be driven crazy in a short time trying to take care of her offspring with such incomplete facilities that tent life provides.

There are families south of Brooklyn who are living in tents. Their stories would soon convince one that tenting out is not to be encouraged for the couple with children. The doctor bills these tent dwellers have paid to treat their children, made sick by dampness and other unfavorable elements of tent life, would discourage any father from taking his children to a canvas house to ALSO GIRL FOR FILING WORK;

CHIROPRACTIC AND NATURE Chiropractic holds that nature or Universal Intelligence has provided within the human economy all the requisites for the building and repair of the body, and that, with an uninter-rupted flow of the mental impulses that control all functions in the body petween the brain and tissue cells health maintains that disease is the result of the interference with the transmission of these impulses; that the pressure that causes the interference is at the intervertebral foramina, and that the rational means of restor-ing health is by adjusting the verte-bra to its normal position, and relieving the pressure, thereby restoring the uninterrupted flow of mental im-pulses between the brain and the tissue cells. Simple, isn't it? Yes, so simple it is hard to believe, yet the proof of the pudding is in the eating, and "eating the Chiropractic pudding" proves it to be one hundred per cent

Chiropractic leaves no had effects because it does not add anything to or take anything from the body; if leaves it just as it found it, plus the adjustment toward the normal. does not try to substitute anything, nor does it try to add substances to the hody on the theory that the body has eliminated some of its own neces-sary constituents. It does not stimulate or inhabit nerves on the theory that the body has lost the power to stimulate or inhibit itself.

Chiropractic proves that there is an intelligence within the brain, independent of the educated brain, that con-trols all involuntary functions. This is cealled Innate Intelligence. Nothing happens without a cause. If this were not so, what would cause a newborn infant that can neither sec, hear nor reason, to vomit poison when it is given it? What causes the heart to beat when we are asleep."

ADJUSTMENT HARMLESS A Chiropractor does not harm any sensitive, he does not have to touch it. He does not try to smother its effects or hide its symptoms, he adjusts the cause and the rest follows. He leaves no smoke in his wake, he merely adjusts the vertebra that is in malposition, and does not cause any un-toward position. He has only adjust-ed toward the normal.
