CLEVELAND (BROOKLYN), OHIO, JULY 31, 1920.

No. 31.

BROOKLYN'S 13TH OUTING IS HOWLING SUCCESS—EVERYBODY STAYS HAPPILY ALL DAY LONG

We'll tell the world Brooklyn had the time of her life at Brady Lake, last Wednesday.

Most everybody in Brooklyn who owned a store that he could close up, or who told the boss "his mother-in-law checked in"—and got away with it—was at the outing.

It was a grand and glorious day for picnic celebrating. The Cleveland weather man could not have dished up a better sun-shine or a better temperature and from soup to the ice cream and cake the whole picnic bill-of-fare was a success.

To tell everything that happened would be impossible. The whole business was like a three-ring circus and it sometimes looked that the best acts were being pulled off on the end of the grounds where you "wasn't".

Anyway, those who were there don't care about having the whole bloom thing rehearsed in this sheet and those that stayed at home ought not to told a thing about it.

But some of the high spots ought to be touched. We ought to tell how generously Y. M. C. A. Secretary Karl Kist perspired, seeing to it that all the events were pulled off o. k. without anybody getting hurt in the mid dashes for prizes.

We ought to tell, how some of the crowd missed Mrs. Stebb, of Henritze Ave., who always has made herself heard at other Brooklyn Days, but for some reason missed this last one.

We ought to tell how W. B. McDermid, as he hurried through Newburg in his new bus, flushed a covey of fly cops, but we'll let him tell about that himself.

We know we ought to print the names of those who won the prizes: To do that is a hard job. It's hard because the committee or individual that wrote them for the printer has a hand writing something like a dodo bird that acquired a spasm in infancy from which it never recovered. Now, don't think we blame the fellows who wrote the names. They didn't have any writing desk with them and under the conditions we know we would have done worse than they did.

So the following list may be a guessing contest? Those who are listed can guess if the names are meant for themselves or for someone else. So here goes:

THE PRIZE WINNERS

Three-legged race—First, H. Ely Ave.; W. J. Grab, 9821 Lorain; C. W. and O. Reibelt; second, H. Young and Holman, 3210 Scarelaide; Mrs. Ged Buick; third, Hanke and Rinehart, 3180 W. 4th; A. Lentz, 3227

BROOK PARK TO PLAN FOR FUTURE

Preparing for the rapid growth which is predicted by statistical experts for the entire southwestern section of Cuyahoga county, the village of Brook Park has employed the services of competent engineers to study the village's territory and suggest means for providing sewer and water facilities.

The officials of Brook Park village are anxious to have a model community laid out before the crush of population overtakes it. They say they want to avoid difficulties in the future by preparing sewer and water plans that will take care of the population expected in 15 years from now.

Brook Park has retained the services of the engineering firm of MacDowell and Garvin. This is the same firm that made a report to the county on the sanitary sewer districts south of Brooklyn. It will be up to the engineers retained to study out just what kind of systems will provide for Brook Park village and at the same time harmonize with the county's sewer and water plans.

Doll Hospital, Where Brooklyn Toy Doctor Remakes Playthings, Is Filled With Woes and Joys

Life in a doll hospital, like that of any other hospital, has its joys and its sorrows.

If you don't believe it just drop in some days at Bloesinger's Hospital at 3217 Lorain Ave. and verify this assertion.

Mr. Bloesinger's experiences are just as full of human interest happening as are those of men and women who spend their time in hospitals ministering to the ills and injuries of humanity.

Mr. Bloesinger's "X" Brooklynette, living at 3211 Mont Clair Ave. He is an expert toy doctor. He is a mechanic. He has made a life study of toys and their relation to children.

From All Parts of World. Mr. Bloesinger has spared no effort to gather parts for dolls from all corners of the world. In his hospital he repairs broken and loose jointed dolls, making them serviceable from one generation to another. He gives new lives to old toys.

Go to Bloesinger's Hospital and you will find the store stocked with dolls from 15 cents to $50; miniature hats, all shapes and sizes, of material that will stand the hardest abuse, trimmed in the best market offers. A size for every doll. Dresses the prettiest that the doll dress makers make, complete with underthings, petticoats and all, from wash goods to silks. Miniature union suits, low neck vests and drawers, woven and finished like the grown ups wear knitted booties, gloves, jackets, caps combination suits in silk or wool.

Silken socks and stockings in pink, blue or white. High and low shoes with heels or without. Brushes, combs and jewelry, red riding hood in red, blue or pink. Heads, American French, Japanese and German, breakable or unbreakable. A full line of the prettiest glass eyes, in blue or brown, with and without lashes are in stock. Hair, the prettiest wigs with locks of blonde or brown for all sizes of heads. This is refined hair from clean and healthy human beings which can be combed and curled stock.

Extra parts for dolls, such as hands, arms and feet and bodies always in stock.

WOES OF DOLL HOSPITAL. "Several weeks ago" said Mr. Bloesinger, "an aged man probably brought two small kid dolls

No. 13 Is Now History

Despite the "jinx" which superstitious people usually attach to the number 13, Brooklyn's thirteenth annual outing was a bowling success.

In the history of Brooklyn Days a better day was never experienced. This statement will be attested by the twelve or fifteen hundred people that attended the outing last Wednesday at Brady Lake.

The whole thing passed off without any mishaps to mar it greater than a few blowouts for a few of the hundred autoists that made the trip by gasoline power.

And despite all the reports previously made that roads were in bad shape, most auto parties found the highways much to their liking.

To the committees who arranged for the thirteenth annual event Brooklyn owes credit for the successful picnic. The committee as a whole worked hard as was evidenced by the lengthy picnic program. Arranging a program and providing for traffic facilities for a thousand or more people is no small task.

Here are the men who served on the Brooklyn Day committee: John Biddulph, L. J. Steigelmeier, W. B. McDiarmid, George Meyers, G. Boehmerle, Karl Kist, Howard Luke, George Haberhousch, Walter Lampe, William Young, Kenneth Meyers, G. Alexander, Harry Lowther and Charles Howe.

MERCHANTS who donated the prizes are also fully entitled to a vote of thanks and the patronage of Brooklyn people.

Now Watch Royalton

Now watch the fellows out Royalton way get electric lights. They are going after electric illumination, tooth and nail, and chances are their efforts will bear fruit in the way of electric light bulbs hanging from their chandeliers.

The people out Royalton way are setting an example for the dozens of residents right here in Brooklyn who have been wishing for electric lights but never got them.

Of course, it will cost Royalton people some money and effort to get electric lights, but what conveniences are there that do not require money and effort to obtain?

If the residents of those sections in Brooklyn who still are burning coal oil lamps would make as great an effort as the Royalton people are to get electricity to their homes, they too, might soon see electric light bulbs adorning their chandeliers.

Half hearted efforts never pay and where there is a will there's a way. Sitting back and getting mad about it won't get improvements. The people out Royalton way have found this out. The sooner some other communities in this neck of the woods find it out, the quicker will be the arrival of improvements.

The biggest pay roll robber of them all—the profiteer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Deitz, and daughter Esther, of 3914 Brooklyn Ave., have returned from their trip through the Allegheny and Catskill Mountains. They visited Niagara Falls, and spent some time camping at Lake Chautauqua.

DR. FRANTZ ON WAY HOME.

Terrifying Goitre

(Health Talk No. 5.)

In this day of the low neck gown what is more terrifying to a pretty and sensitive woman than the word or the knowledge that a goitre is developing or has developed. It is a day of despair.

Goitre is an enlargement of the thyroid gland. This gland is supposed to secrete a substance required by the body to counteract poisons. It is important, therefore, that it be kept in normal health as a protection, as well as the only means of retaining beauty of neck and shoulders.

The thyroid gland nerve lines spring from between joints of the spine in the neck region. When the alignment of joints is faulty, there is nerve pressure. Chiropractic adjusting removes the pressure, and Nature restores health, and the enlargement reduces to normal.

NECK LARGE AND PENDANT

At seventeen I had a goitre that made my neck measure 16-3/4 inches. Headaches were regular. Without relief from any other source I turned to chiropractic. The goitre reduced.

The neck is now 13 inches and my headaches too have gone.—Pauline Frantz, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement, No. 1033 A. morning. There will be no evening double header Tuesday, scoring 24 services until Sept. 5.

Rev. W. S. Bamford, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Bamford, will leave early next week for Stony Brook, N.Y., where they will attend the Stony Brook conference.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

The fast going Pearl M. E.'s finally were beaten by the Murrels, who the out-hit managed to nose the league leaders out of the game by two runs, and also first place. The winning of second game by the speedy Tigers placed the Pearls back in the lead.

Standings:

Team	P	W	L	Pct.
Pearl, M. E.	3	1	2	.750
Murrels	3	2	1	.667
Speedy Tigers	5	3	2	.600
Memphis	3	0	3	.000

The senior all Memphis Twilight team defeated the Scranton Seniors 13-6. The Memphis all-star team is still in first place. They play Buhrer at Buhrer School. The Buhrer team is coached by Dan Savage, formerly coach at St. Ignatius College and now a coach at St. Louis High School at St. Louis, Mo. An interesting battle is expected.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

This week proved a hum-dinger as first place changed three times. The league leaders dropped a couple of hard fought games to the Iroquois and Pawnees, but came back into first place by defeating the Pawnees in a run in the two games against 4 to their opponents. The hitting of Melvin Graff, Ed Frank, and Ed. Drazel were the features.

Standings:

	Pld.	W.	L.	Pct.
Chippewa	16	10	6	.625
Choctaw	14	8	6	.571
Iroquois	13	7	6	.538
Laurens	18	8	10	.444

The Junior All-Memphis team plays the Junior Buhrer school at Buhrer this week and Hicks school next week. Game starts at 2 p.m.

In the Junior Girls' league, the Orioles are still sending the pill into unknown regions of Henritze Ave. The rest of the league are becoming excellent explorers.

Standings:

	Pld.	W.	L.	Pct.
Orioles	6	6	0	1.000
Fighters	3	2	1	.667
Indians	4	1	3	.250
Eagles	3	0	3	.000
